CAROUSEL

The Story

Adapted by Benjamin F. Glaser from Ferenc Molnar's "Liliom," Rodgers' and Hammerstein's "Carousel" is centered around the activities of a ruggedly independent casanova of a carousel barker, Billy Bigelow, and Julie Jordan, the young girl who wins his heart. Set on the New England coast during the summer of 1873, the tale unfolds as Julie's innocence and sincerity charm Billy away from his fancy-free barker's life and into a role as a loving, devoted, but somewhat irresponsible husband.

Billy's wish to provide for Julie and the child they're expecting points him in the direction of Jigger Craigin, an unsavory wharf rat, who has concocted a robbery plan to make them both rich. The scheme proves fatal for Billy, leaving Julie alone and sending Billy through the "back door of heaven" - Billy not being quite up to front door-pearly gate standards.

With the help of heaven's unique caretakers, Billy learns what his life with Julie could have meant had he not been so foolish, and his spiritual awakening touches the heart of the Starkeeper. Through the Starkeeper's generosity Billy is allowed to return to earth for a few hours to see how his family is doing, fifteen years later. Grateful for the Starkeeper's gift, Billy returns to eternity comfortable in the knowledge that Julie is content.
