

Automotive Technology Races Ahead with Donation by Dobbs Tire and Auto

Dobbs Tire and Auto Centers recently donated a fully functional racecar to the Jefferson College Foundation for instructional use in the College's Automotive Technology program.

The car will be used to supplement training regarding engine and mechanical systems as part of Jefferson College's comprehensive automotive technology curriculum. Possessing a variety of vehicles for students to examine and apply knowledge learned in the classroom provides a heightened learning experience.

"Jefferson College is extremely grateful for the longstanding partnership with Dobbs Tire and Auto Centers," said College President Dr. Raymond Cumiskey. "In addition to the generous sponsorship of Foundation events, their ongoing support of the Automotive Technology program and subsequent employment of Jefferson College graduates supports the workforce of our local communities and drives economic development in our region."

In addition to instructional and training applications, the College will also rebrand the racecar and use it for promotional activities in area parades, festivals and special events.

Automotive Technology is among several popular career education programs in the School of Math, Physics and Technology, allowing students to pursue an Associate of Applied Science degree or a Career and Technical certificate. Jefferson College graduates are employed at many of the automotive dealerships and repair facilities throughout the region.

The Automotive Technology program holds full reaccreditation from the National Institute for Automotive Service Excellence (ASE) National Automotive Technicians Education Foundation (NATEF) through 2022, having undergone a rigorous evaluation using nationally accepted standards of excellence in instruction, facilities, and equipment.

Additional vehicle donations (2005 or newer in running condition without major body damage) are welcome in an effort to provide a variety of makes and models for students to gain hands on experience. For more information about donating a vehicle to the College, contact Automotive Technology Professor Gerard Uhls at (636) 481- 3431 (TDD 789-5772).

“We Are the Vikings” Christmas Parade Float In Our Community

We love our community...that was the message conveyed to hundreds of area residents as Jefferson College participated in local Christmas parades again this year with the unique “We Are the Vikings” ship.

A group of enthusiastic students, employees, and family members—along with the College’s beloved mascot Victor E. Viking--braved the elements to greet people along the parade routes in Kimmswick and Hillsboro. Many supportive comments were received by parade goers of all ages.

Thanks to all who played a part in this fun, festive outreach project to show Jefferson College spirit and camaraderie in our community...Go Vikings! More photos are available on the Jefferson College Go Jeffco page on Facebook.
